RE: Technical Assistance for Big Basin Water Company

Dear Mr. Jaber:

Moonshot Missions is a collective of water industry professionals with experience in utility management, governance, community engagement, engineering, operations, and finance. We serve as a trusted peer advisor for communities to secure safe, accessible, and affordable drinking water and clean waterways. Together with partners at the US Environmental Protection Agency, Moonshot Missions provides technical assistance at no cost to eligible utilities to help access water infrastructure funding.

In the case of Big Basin Water Company, Moonshot is planning to provide:

- A 360-degree assessment to review the utility's technical, managerial, and financial condition;
- Identification of sustainable, solutions-oriented projects at the conceptual level and assistance in prioritizing them;
- Given the prioritized projects, an evaluation of potential funding sources given the different governance options being evaluated; and
- Development of a project plan 'Roadmap' of necessary steps to submit a funding application.

Moonshot currently has the capability and capacity to assist you with evaluating and planning next steps for Big Basin Water Company. Our staff is honored to assist you in your efforts to providing safe and cost-effective drinking water to Big Basin Water Company's customers into the future.

Yours Sincerely,
